

THE CAYLEY HUSTLER

VOL. I. NO. 9

CAYLEY, ALTA., MAY 18, 1910

SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 A YEAR

A TREAT FOR CAYLEY

Madam Bessie Duggan, R.A.M., of Nanton, who has been commanded to sing before Royalty, has been secured to give a concert in the Cayley Methodist church on the evening of May 23rd. She will be accompanied by Messrs Duggan, Dawson and Klebe, Misses Duggan, Evans, Standerwick and Mrs. W. F. Jones. The concert will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church. Keep date clear and don't miss this treat.

Insulted the King's Memory

Led by an intrepid and patriotic newsboy, a number of "newsies" attacked and gave a well-known Calgary business man an interesting time on Eighth avenue last Friday evening, because he dared to make an insulting remark relative to the death of King Edward.

It happened on Eighth avenue, near the Victoria Hotel. The boy who resented the insult approached the man, calling "Daily News; all about the King's death!" when he was reproached with the remark: "A damn good job, too." The newsie promptly dropped his extras and vigorously attacked the bully. A number of other newsboys lost no time in coming to the succor of their companion, and made things very interesting for a time. The fracas caused a crowd to collect, and the indiscreet gentleman was finally rescued and accompanied down the street by a policeman.—Calgary News.

Cattle Men Getting Anxious

The cattle men are getting busy with regards to the "vanishing of the range." For some time the stock breeders and the big ranchers and cattle men have realized that with the great influx of settlers into their range land there would soon be damage done to the cattle industry by the lessening of the range land, and this has been felt so decidedly that many ranchers have for the past year or two been turning out on the market thousands of head of female stock, preparatory to practically going out of business.

A movement was started by the stockmen some days ago, says the Calgary Herald, to endeavor to get the government to allot some land leases where cattle men could secure at least ten year leases, where they could take their stock and continue the industry which, up to a few years ago, was the greatest one in the province.

A meeting of the board of trade council was held when the secretary was instructed to communicate with all the big stockmen and secure their opinions on the matter of new lease lands, and the future of the cattle industry. This has been done, and arrangements have been made for a meeting of the council and the stockmen to take place about May 27, when some definite action will be taken towards approaching the Dominion government with a view of securing leases in new parts of the province.

Cawnt Understand It.

There are many puzzling things revealed by the inquiry into the high cost of food. Bread made from Canadian wheat is much cheaper in England than bread made from the same wheat in Canada. Beef that is grown and dressed in Canada can be bought for considerably less money in London than right on the spot where the beef is made. A New York paper shows by comparison of prices that the people of New York pay from 8 to 11 cents a pound for prime cuts than the people of London pay for the same kind of meat after it had been carried three thousand miles across the ocean. And now we are being told that eggs are being transported from Russia to Canada and sold here for less than the Canadian product. If the present pressure of high cost of living should have the effect of compelling people to study these questions and try to understand them for themselves, the experience will not have come in vain.

Thousands Can Say the Same

E. H. Seigler, who homesteaded at Glenview six years ago, sold out recently and left Monday for his old home in Nebraska, where he will remain for a time. In leaving Alberta he does so with regret for he says: "The country has been mighty good to me. I came here without a cent and am leaving with upwards of $5,000, which is absolutely satisfactory to me.

For first-class Job Printing, try the Hustler.

The editor of the Hustler wishes all his readers to understand that he is not accountable or has no part in any letters that may appear in the Hustler under the heading of "Communications." If any one wishes to write on any subject or about any person or persons, as long as they don't mention any names, and sign their names or let the editor know who it is that has written the said article, he may publish; but on no account will anything of this kind be published unless the person or persons writing them let themselves be known. As to the name they wish to have attached to the article when printed they can suit themselves, but the editor would rather that each person writing would have his own name.

If the Editor wishes to say anything along the above line, he hopes that he will always have the manliness and courage of writing it under his own name.

Large as Alberta is, it is not large enough for the Commission appointed to look into the late government transaction.

One would think that the reporters and editors of the Calgary papers were indulging in smoking some of Alberta's own grown tobacco, by the pipe dreams they have been having re the government, future premier, etc., and because their dreams are not alike they waste their time in attempting to prove that the other fellow's dream is not true. After May 26th they will most likely all be trying to prove that their dreams came true. But by looks of things at present, if the people of Alberta want information as to the future government they will have to wait until the Government know what they intend to do themselves.

The question that many voters in this province are asking, is not how much a mile will it cost to build a railway, but how much a mile is this Royal Commission costing the country?

Those who spend all they earn seldom get on in the world.

There comes a time in the life of almost every man when, through loss of employment or some other reverse, he is reduced to the necessity of drawing upon his reserve fund, or, failing such a fund, of an appeal to friends.

A natural desire for independence should prompt the acquisition of a Savings Account as a means of providing against the uncertainties of life.

One Dollar will start an account in the BANK OF HAMILTON ; and interest—at highest current rate—will be credited every six months.
